Farmer's market established here

A farmer's market has been established in Appomattox, according to Town Manager Bill Britton.

The market is located on the back portion of the municipal parking lot on Lee Street, next to Marshall's Department Store.

Britton says that part of the parking lot will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, and spaces for persons to sell their produce will be available on a first-come, first-served basis.

There will be no charge for selling spaces, according to Britton. However, anyone selling produce which he or she bought from someone else for resale must acquire a business license from the town. Persons selling their own fruit and vegetables do not need a business license.

All sellers, however, must have a state sales tax number. Application forms for state sales tax numbers are available at the office of the Commissioner of Revenue at Appomattox County Court House. Each individual will be responsible for paying the state sales tax on a monthly basis.

In addition, each seller will be responsible for cleaning his or her selling space at the end of each sales day. Trash cans will be available at the market site for this purpose, according to Britton.

Britton notes that the farmer's market came about as a result of numerous requests from the community. Other communities have similar arrangements, Britton notes, although in some communities a fee is required for a selling space.

John Anderson to head SEC

John C. Anderson

John C. Anderson, of Sumter, S. C., has been named General Manager of the Southside Electric Cooperative in Crewe. He will assume his new duties in mid-September, just prior to the 1982 annual SEC meeting.

He was the unanimous choice by the SEC Board of Directors from a list of 43 applicants.

Mr. Anderson has been executive vice-president and general manager of the Black River Electric Cooperative for the past 12 years, a system about half the size of SEC.

Mr. Anderson, who is 45 years old, has indicated that "power generation" is the Southside Electric Cooperative's biggest problem "because it costs 70-cents of every dollar, leaving only 30-cents for the cost of operations, maintenance, and the repayment of loan funds and interest and taxes".

"A rate study," he said "will be one of my first recommendations. I feel this is a good, strong rural electric system, and I see no reason why it can't be one of the best cooperatives in the United States."

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have both been active in community programs. He has served as Scout Master, President of the Exchange Club, active in the March of Dimes, the Chamber of Commerce, the TB Association, President of the Farmers" Cooperative Council, the Merchants" Association Board of Directors, the Optimist Club, and is a Member of the Masons.

Mrs. Anderson, who with one of their three children, will move to Virginia, is active in the March of Dimes and other community groups.

Price levels adjusted

USDA Revises 1982 Flue-cured tobacco price support level, grade support rates-The U. S. Department of Agriculture has adjusted the price support level for the 1982 crop of flue-cured tobacco from $1.759 per pound to $1.699 per pound. This action was authorized under the No Net Cost Tobacco Act of 1982 signed into law by President Reagan.

At the same time, USDA reduced previously-announced grade loan rates an average of 3.4 percent. However, these rates still are 7.1 percent (7 to 19 cents) higher than those applicable to the 1981 crop, according to Everett Rank, administrator of USDA's ASCS.

From these rates, the tobacco marketing association may deduct 1 cent per pound from the advances paid to producers to help cover overhead costs, Rank said.

Rank said the loan rates for the 1982 crop were adjusted as the result of a determination by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block that certain grades of flue-cured tobacco were in excessive supply.

Further, as a condition of price support eligibility, flue-cured farmers must agree to contribute 3 cents per pound of tobacco marketed to a "no net cost tobacco fund." These funds are established by the association, to ensure the tobacco price support program will be operated at no net cost to taxpayers.

Loan rates will be discounted 10 percent for any grade of supported primings which contain more dirt or sand than normal. Tobacco containing excessive sand or dirt will be grade NO-G, no grade.

As in the past, loans are unavailable on tobacco graded NO-g, P5L,P5F, P5G, N1L, N1XL, N1GL, N1XO, N1PO, N2 (second quality nondescript), W (doubtful keeping order), U (unsound) or scrap. Marketings of these low grades will be charged against the quotas of the farms on which they were produced.

Tables showing the new schedule of grade loan rates are available at the ASCS Office.

If you didn't spray your alfalfa for potato leaf hopper, chances are it is turning yellow and has stopped growing-harvest immediately.

"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

The potato leaf hopper is a major pest all over the state this growing season. Hopefully an additional spraying will not be necessary, but watch your fields closely.

Alfalfa seeding time is coming up. Don't neglect getting soil samples taken before you get into silage and dark tobacco harvest.

Alfalfa acreage is on the increase. There are several management practices that make possible high yields-proper pH, adequate fertilizer, selection of a top yielding variety, weed and insect control. A herbicide at planting - is a good insurance policy.

* * *

Boron is an essential element in plant nutrition and always required when seeding or top dressing alfalfa. Crops grown in boron deficient soils cannot produce their fullest potentials for top yields, quality, or long life stands, without the addition of boron. In boron deficient soils, only a small mount of boron is required to promote the health and yields of crops like alfalfa.

Boron is lost through leaching, particularly in course, textured soils. Crops use up the Boron in the soil and it must be replaced regularly for top yields and quality. Timing to correct acid soils increases the need for boron.

Letter

Mining concerns

Editor.

I am concerned that uranium mining and milling is being rushed in our area. Will the jobs needed for this industry come out of our jobless population? The health record of those who have worked in this type of mine is one of very high cancer rate and a high rate of birth defects.

Why are uranium mines being closed in the Southewst? No radioactive mill tailings pile has ever been cleaned up to date, causing huge areas of dead land. What is Marline's plan in Virginia for containing these mountains of highly poisonous waste? What will be the effect on our property values?

Ask professional people and young families in the area if they are concerned. Would they be forced to move elsewhere rather than risk this health hazard? Who will be financially responsible should something unaccounted for happen and our water supply is contaminated?

These questions should be answered before we allow this industry to develop here. These issues will be discussed at the subcommittee meeting of the Va. Coal and Energy Commission on August 30, in Richmond, and legislation will be voted on in the General Assembly in January, 1983. Marline's interests will be well represented. Will yours?

Contact me for more information.

Sincerely,
S. Arthur
